Luann's Thoughts

The holidays are upon us. Christmas is my favorite holiday of the year. I was thinking today of how much I loved waking up to a white Christmas as a child growing up in Kansas. We would open our gifts at home and then go to my maternal grandparents for Christmas with extended family. What a wonderful day it would be! The food was always delicious, well except for that gooseberry pie! The house was filled with so much chatter and laughter. While the adults visited, the kids would play board games and play outside. What fond memories I have of those days!

Today I am that grandmother putting together a wonderful day for my kids and grandkids. Oh my goodness, the talking and laughing fills the house with such joy!

We will celebrate our chapter's December meeting with salads brought by the members and desserts furnished by the hostess. I know that we too will be laughing and talking while we celebrate together. Our service project is the donation of funds for the Garfield Angel Tree and a donation to The Rose. It warms my heart to think about the happiness that our donation to the Angel Tree will bring to so many students and the assistance it will give to women in need of medical treatment at The Rose. I look forward to seeing everyone on December 3rd!
