Laura's Thoughts

Welcome back to school! I hope you had an awesome start to the year! Mine has been very busy trying to get the library in order and set-up to welcome the students back. I have already had classes in the library for a quick lesson and book check-out. I am looking forward to a "normal" year, hopefully, but will remain flexible to any unforeseeable changes. As we start the new year, I reflect on the past school year and look at all the changes I had to make to accommodate what we were experiencing with the pandemic. Some of those changes were temporary; however, there are a few things I did last year that I have chosen to keep this year. Last year, I started recording all my lessons and providing these to the teachers prior to their visit to the library. It worked so well that I decided to make that a permanent change, especially with tech lessons on how to access our eBook platforms. Those of you at the secondary level know what it's like to repeat a lesson 6 or 7 times a day for all your classes. It can be exhausting saying the same thing repeatedly. Well in the library, I must repeat the lesson 6 times a day for a total of two weeks. By recording the lesson, I not only save my voice, but I also now have a recording of a How To lesson that students can easily watch again. What changes did you make last year that you will continue to use this year? What will be your new normal, or how do you plan to get back to normal? At our first meeting, we will be talking about the new school year and getting back to normal. I look forward to seeing everyone via Zoom on September 7th!
