Laura's Thoughts

Although it is Fall, it sure does not feel like it. The weather has not been cooperative. I would really love to have cooler weather that would stick around long enough for me to pull out a sweater or light jacket. Unfortunately, we have received an occasional teaser but nothing more. I guess I can be thankful that the humidity has been somewhat bearable. Being thankful for things, people, and events is what this month is all about. November is a time to reflect and think about all the things we should be grateful for. I know I have much to be grateful for and know I can create a list a mile long, but I am especially grateful for the people in my life, from family to friends, from acquaintances to co-workers, and let's not forget my fur babies. Oh, how I love my dogs!

So, what are you thankful for? At our next meeting, you will have an opportunity to share this information with our members. We will have a Gratitude Scavenger Hunt. Each of you should have or will receive a Gratitude Kit in the mail or via interoffice mail. I sent it out prior to our meeting, because I wanted to give each of you an opportunity to hunt for your items to save time. There is also a special little gift for each of you from me to show my gratitude for all that you do. Thanks again for all your hard work and dedication!
